FEDERAL MINISTER FOR POVERTY ALLEVIATION, SHAZIA MARRI DISTRIBUTING CHEQUES AMONG DESERVING WOMEN UNDER INTEREST FREE LOAN PROGRAMME BY PAKISTAN POVERTY ALLEVIATION FUND IN QUETTA ON JULY 01, 2022.

QUETTA, Jul 01 (APP):Federal Minister for Poverty Alleviation and Social Safety and BISP Chairperson Shazia Marri on Friday said the government was committed to provide social protection to the women of Balochistan by making them economically strong so that they could play their role in the country's development.

The Benazir Nashonuma Programme centers would be opened in every district of the province from next month, besides provision of 25 vehicles to the Benazir Income Support Programme (BISP) to enhance its outreach to the needy women across Balochistan, she added.

She was addressing a function held here under the auspices of the non-governmental organization Pakistan Poverty Alleviation Fund (PPAF) to distribute interest free loan cheques among women from different parts of Balochistan.

Member of the National Assembly Rubina Irfan, ex-senator Roshan Khurshid Barocha, former members of Balochistan Assembly Rahila Hameed Durrani and Ghazala Gola, and leaders of political parties also attended the ceremony.

Shazia Marri expressed her resolve that Balochistan would be given top priority in the plans of her ministry. Balochistan being the largest province of Pakistan, must be given due attention, she added.

“Efforts are being made to make Balochistan socially strong so that the sense of deprivation of its people is removed,” she said, adding the people should have the right to the resources of their province.

She said the way in which work was being done at the community level with the people of Balochistan was commendable. A strong and thriving Balochistan would guarantee a strong Pakistan.

The minister said the BISP was the largest social security programme in Asia, which had benefited 80,000 families. Some 0.2 million children were benefiting from its Education Programme, she added.

Shazia Marri said along with giving a sizable amount for the education of children, stipends were also being given to boys and girls.

QUETTA: Federal Minister for Poverty Alleviation and Social Safety Shazia Marri has said the federal government would soon announce a comprehensive relief programme to remove the existing sense of deprivation in Balochistan and move ahead jointly with the people for the uplift of the province.

Speaking at a press conference after inaugurating interest-free loan programme and assistive devices to the people with special needs here on Friday, she said 25 mobile units would be provided to Balochistan for facilitating the people under the Benazir Income Support Programme, while new BISP centres would be established across the province. Shazia Marri, who is also chairperson of the BISP, alleged that the PTI government tried to wind up the BISP, but all such attempts failed and the programme continued with full force. She said over eight million families across the country were benefiting from the BISP and soon more families would be registered.

“Half a million more women would be included in the BISP in Balochistan,” she said, adding that the nutrition programme would also be promoted in the province.

The PPP leader said a targeted subsidy of Rs28 billion had been provided for financial assistance to the marginalised segments of society, while an additional amount of Rs48bn was allocated for this purpose.

“Government can give targeted subsidy to the people, but extending blanket subsidy was not possible presently,” she said while replying to a question.

Ms Marri criticised PTI chairman Imran Khan and said during his four years in power, he gave nothing to the people, except inflation and unemployment. He completely deviated from the promises he had made to the people, she added.

She said instead of leveling false accusations against the incumbent government on the streets, the former premier should come to parliament to answer questions about the poor performance of his government.

In reply to a question, Ms Marri said water dispute between Sindh and Balochistan was raised unnecessarily. The Indus River System Authority was responsible for all these issues which must be resolved under the 1991 water accord.

The minister announced a grant of Rs1 million for Quetta Press Club from PPP chairman Bilawal Bhutto-Zardari.

It may be recalled that former president Asif Ali Zardari during the PPP government had announced Aghaz-i-Huqooq-i-Balochistan package under which 5,500 posts of teachers were created and recruited, who were later made permanent. He had also announced giving jobs to the people of Balochistan in federal government departments as per constitutional quota.

Under the package, the office of the Gwadar Port Authority was shifted to Gwadar from Islamabad and the chief minister was appointed chairman of the Board of Governors of GPA.

Earlier, the Musharraf regime had announced building a network of roads in Balochistan and constructed the Coastal Highway. The former military ruler had withdrawn the idea of establishing cantonments in Sui and Gwadar.

Former prime minister Nawaz Sharif had in 2017 announced a development package for Gwadar, including establishment of a university, a 300-bed hospital and a desalination plant.

Govt to devise plan to remove deprivation in Balochistan soon: Shazia Marri

QUETTA: The Federal Minister for Poverty Alleviation and Social Safety and Chairman BISP, Ms. Shazia Marri has said that the federal government would soon announce a comprehensive relief programme

Speaking at a Press Conference after inaugurating the Interest free loan programme and assistive devices to people with special needs, here on Friday, he said that 25 mobile units would be province to Balochistan for facilitating the people under Benazir Income Support Programme while new BISP centers would be established across the province.

Ms. Shazia Marri also visited the Balochistan Rural Support Programme who had launched nutrition programmes in many districts of the province to feed the deserving people.

The Provincial General Secretary of PPP and ex-senator Rozi Khan Kakar, Information Secretary Sardar Baland Khan Jomezai, former minister Agha Irfan Ahmedzai, Sana Jattak, Jaffar Gorge, Mohyuddin Rind and other party leaders were also present on the occasion.

She while criticizing Imran Khan led PTI government said that it has made attempts to vanish BISP programme but all such efforts failed and Benazir Income Support Programme was continue with full force which was launched by the PPP government in 2008 for the financial help of the downturn segments of the society according to the vision of Shaheed Benazir Bhutto. She said that it was given legal cover in 2010 which was loaded onto the entire world and the United Nation declared it an example for other countries.

Ms. Marri said that over 8 million families were benefiting from BISP in the country and soon more families would be registered in this programme. "Half a million more women would be included in BISP in Balochistan," she said, adding that the nutrition programme in Balochistan would also be promoted. She said that Balochistan is the largest province of the country where under the new formula more BISP centers would be set up. "We have decided to start dynamic.

registration after Eid for increasing numbers of the deserving women in the programme," Ms. Shazia Marri, Federal Minister for the BISP and PAASS said.

She said that the government was giving targeted subsidies to the poor people to compensate them financially in view of the inflation and announced a package of Rs. 28 billion under which Rs. 2000 is being given to the people. She said that another programme of Rs. 48 billion was also in the pipeline for the people. "Government can give targeted subsidy to the people but extending blanket subsidy was not possible presently," Ms. Marri said while replying to a question.

Ms. Shazia Marri, who is senior leader of PPP strongly criticized Imran Khan and his government and said that he was suffering from pain due to ousting from the government through a democratic move of no-trust motion. "Every day, he expresses his pain saying "Mujhay Kyion Nikala" as he has nothing in his credit to present before people what he and his government did for the people of the country.

She said that when the peoples' party came into power in 2008 the entire world was facing an economic crisis but the PPP leadership with its wisdom and realistic policies brought the country from a difficult economic situation and did a lot for the people. She said, "We have accepted to take over the government despite the very difficult economic and political situation to save Pakistan from complete economic disaster otherwise the country would face a big loss."

She while replying to a question said that IRSA should implement the water accord signed in 1991 about the water distribution among the provinces. She said that presently misunderstandings among the provinces about water distribution were due to not implementing the water accord by IRSA.

She announced a Rs. One million donation for the Quetta Press Club from the PPP Chairman Bilawal Bhutto Zardari. She paid tributes to the Balochistan journalists for performing their professional duties in difficult conditions.
